Daily Stand-Up Questions

The daily stand-up is a meeting of all project team members and should last no longer than 15 minutes. The communication, collaboration and coordination should be among team members and is not a status report to a team leader.

- What are we doing well? What is working?

- What could be improved?

- What is standing in our way (and how can we remove it)?

- What would make us happier in our next round of collaboration?[1]

[1] Inspired by Jeff Sutherland's finding published in SCRUM (2014) that teams that merely ask this question are more productive.

© 2020 Meyer Agile Innovation • MeyerAgileInnovation.com